

Industry AI, IoT Technology Executive to Drive Vault Product Development

Vault Intelligence Limited (ASX: VLT) (Vault, the Company), the leading SaaS business delivering solutions in the Risk, Environment, Health and Safety (EHS) sector is pleased to announce the Senior Executive appointment of Miguel Nasr as the Chief Product and Data Officer for Vault.

For the past four months Vault has undertaken an intensive recruitment campaign to find a market leading technology expert with a successful track record to drive the latest in cutting edge technology innovation into the current and future Vault product suite. CEO David Moylan remarked “We had an outstanding group of candidates apply for this critical Senior Executive position and we are incredibly excited to have appointed Miguel. Miguel is highly regarded and respected in the technology and telecommunication industries with over 15 years experience as a leading Artificial Intelligence (AI), Internet of Things (IOT) and SaaS Product Leader and his experience in Big Data will also be massive for Vault in the future.”

Miguel joins Vault Intelligence as the Chief Product & Data Officer, where he will lead the next generation of product development for the Company’s SaaS offering. Miguel commented; “I am so excited to be joining Vault Intelligence; a business that has led the way in digitally transforming the EHS sector. I am looking forward to working with its leadership team and board to evolve the product range and help the organisation enter new markets and industries.”

Prior to joining Vault Intelligence, Miguel held a number of senior roles in the Telecommunications, Healthcare, Education and Automotive sectors in roles spanning Technology, Products, Strategy, Marketing and Advisory.

He has extensive experience with emerging technologies and is a co-founder of several successful new businesses at Telstra, including its Machine to Machine (M2M)/IOT and Data Insights Product divisions where he also oversaw market-leadership developments and growth. Miguel commented; “I have always had a passion for helping organisations to capitalise on emerging technology to uncover new value and create competitive advantage. In a world where everyone and everything is being connected, technologies such as the IoT and AI will transform businesses, industries and customer experiences.”

The holder of Computer Science and Engineering related Degrees, Miguel has been an advisor at the University of Melbourne on their Digital and Data programs and is a contributing member of the IoT Alliance Australia. He also mentors and advises a number of startups and small businesses in the IoT and AI domain.

The appointment of Miguel is the first in what is part of a major strategic initiative that will see changes made over the coming months to the composition and skill sets of the Board as well as the Executive team of Vault.

CEO, David Moylan reiterated, “the appointment of Miguel is tremendous news for Vault and he will be a key enabler in the Company’s drive to be recognised as the innovator and leader in the safety tech vertical”. Miguel will take up his senior executive appointment for Vault on the 9th May 2018 and will be located in Vault’s Melbourne Office.

Ends.
