Managing Director – Greg Patching commented:

"I'm proud to announce that Western Energetics has signed a significant agreement with the Mt Ida gold mine in Western Australia. Through this partnership, we will supply a unique package of energetic products, initiating systems, and our innovative Collar Keeper® drill technology, showcasing our commitment to a customer-focused approach.

This tailored solution not only optimises blast outcomes but also eliminates 'single use' plastics, reduces costs, and enhances efficiency for our valued customers. Western Energetics continues to play a key role in delivering our strategy across a growing customer base."
