MARKET OVERVIEW

The Australian market rose 1.0% (including franking credits) in June, bringing the total return for FY24 to 13.6%. A higher-than-expected inflation rate in May increased the odds of a hike at the next RBA meeting to 45% according to market pricing. Financials was the best sector performer in June, up 5.1% in contrast to mining which fell 7.2% as the market became concerned about Chinese growth prospects. Financials were also the best performer in FY24 with a gain above 30%, along with Technology and Consumer Discretionary stocks which also rallied strongly. In contrast, Telecoms and Consumer Staples lagged as the government and ACCC investigated competition within the supermarket industry.

The largest positive contributors to the Company's performance during the month were overweight positions in Origin Energy and Suncorp as well as underweight positions in Fortescue, South32 and Paladin. However, overweight positions in Rio Tinto, Ampol and BHP as well as underweight positions in Woolworths and Insurance Australia detracted from relative performance.

The Company remains actively positioned to seek superior income than the benchmark.

Companies mentioned are illustrative only and not a recommendation to buy or sell any particular security.
