Overseas Shareholders

This Prospectus does not, and is not intended to, constitute an offer of Bonus Options in any place or jurisdiction in which, or to any person to whom, it would be unlawful to make such an offer or to issue this Prospectus.

The Bonus Issue is not being extended, and Bonus Options will not be issued, to Shareholders with a registered address which is outside Australia, New Zealand or Bermuda. No action has been taken to permit the offer of Bonus Options to existing Shareholders in any jurisdiction other than Australia, New Zealand and Bermuda. ### Important information for New Zealand Shareholders

The Bonus Issue to Shareholders with a registered address in New Zealand is a regulated offer made under Australian and New Zealand law. In Australia, this is Chapter 8 of the Corporations Act and regulations made under that Act. In New Zealand, this is subpart 6 of Part 9 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 and Part 9 of the Financial Markets Conduct Regulations 2014.

The Bonus Issue and the content of this Prospectus are principally governed by Australian rather than New Zealand law. In the main, the Corporations Act and the regulations made under that Act set out how the Bonus Issue must be made.

There are differences in how securities are regulated under Australian law.

The rights, remedies, and compensation arrangements available to New Zealand investors in Australian securities may differ from the rights, remedies, and compensation arrangements for New Zealand securities.

Both the Australian and New Zealand securities regulators have enforcement responsibilities in relation to the Bonus Issue. If you need to make a complaint about the Bonus Issue, please contact the Financial Markets Authority, New Zealand (<http://www.fma.govt.nz>). The Australian and New Zealand regulators will work together to settle your complaint.

The taxation treatment of Australian securities is not the same as for New Zealand securities.

If you are uncertain about whether the Bonus Issue is appropriate for you, you should seek the advice of an appropriately qualified financial adviser.

The Bonus Issue may involve a currency exchange risk. The currency for the securities is not New Zealand dollars. The value of the securities will go up or down according to changes in the exchange rate between that currency and New Zealand dollars. These changes may be significant.

If you expect the securities to pay any amounts in a currency that is not New Zealand dollars, you may incur significant fees in having the funds credited to a bank account in New Zealand in New Zealand dollars.

If the securities are able to be traded on a financial product market and you wish to trade the securities through that market, you will have to make arrangements for a participant in that market to sell the securities on your behalf. If the financial product market does not operate in New Zealand, the way in which the market operates, the regulation of participants in that market, and the information available to you about the financial products and trading may differ from financial product markets that operate in New Zealand.

Notice to nominees and custodians

Shareholders resident in Australia, New Zealand and Bermuda holding Shares on behalf of persons who are resident in other jurisdictions are responsible for ensuring that taking up any Bonus Options does not breach regulations in the relevant jurisdiction.

Continuously quoted securities

In preparing this Prospectus, regard has been had to the fact that the Company is a disclosing entity for the purposes of the Corporations Act and that certain matters may reasonably be expected to be known to investors and their professional advisers. This Prospectus is issued pursuant to section 713 of the Corporations Act. This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering.

Exposure period

No exposure period applies to the Bonus Issue.

Speculative investment

The Bonus Issue should be considered speculative. Refer to Section 4 for details of the key risks applicable to an investment in the Company.

This Prospectus does not take into account the investment objectives, financial or taxation or particular needs of any Shareholder and as such Shareholders should consult their stockbroker, solicitor, accountant or other professional adviser with respect to any questions they may have about the Bonus Issue.

There is no guarantee that the Bonus Options will make a return on the capital invested, that dividends will be paid on the Bonus Options or that there will be an increase in the value of the Bonus Options in the future.

Forward-looking statements

Such forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties, assumptions and other important factors, many of which are beyond the control of the Company, the Directors and management of the Company. Key risks associated with an investment in the Company are detailed in Section 4. The Company has no intention to update or revise forward-looking statements, or to publish prospective financial information in the future, regardless of whether new information, future events or any other factors affect the information contained in this Prospectus, except where required by law.

(b) Bermuda domicile risk

As a company incorporated in Bermuda, the Company is subject to the Bermuda Companies Act and is not subject to many provisions of the Corporations Act.

It is important to note that there are significant differences between Australian company law and Bermuda company law including in relation to share capital, membership, payment of dividends and distributions, and protection of minority shareholders.

The Bermuda Companies Act does not provide the same level of shareholder rights and protection that a shareholder of an Australian incorporated company may be accorded. In particular, no takeover protection is provided by the Bermuda Companies Act.

Where a person seeks to obtain control of the Company by acquiring Shares, under Bermuda law, Shareholders may not be granted a reasonable opportunity to participate in the benefits of any successful takeover or receive any compensation in the form of a "control premium" which would ordinarily be paid by a person obtaining control of an Australian incorporated company.

In addition, as a result of being incorporated in Bermuda, it may be more difficult for investors to enforce judgements obtained in the courts of Australia against the Company.

(c) Tax environment

At the date of this Prospectus, there is no income tax, corporation tax, or profits tax, withholding tax, capital gains tax, capital transfer tax, estate duty or inheritance tax payable by the Company or its Shareholders in Bermuda, other than Shareholders ordinarily resident in Bermuda. The Company is not subject to stamp duty on the issue, transfer or redemption of its Shares.

The Company has received from the Minister of Finance of Bermuda under the Exempted Undertakings Tax Protection Act 1966 an assurance that, in the event of there being enacted in Bermuda any legislation imposing tax computed on profits or income, or computed on any capital assets, gain or appreciation or any tax in the nature of estate duty or inheritance tax, such tax shall not until March 31, 2035 be applicable to the Company or to any of its operations, or to the Shares, debentures or other obligations of the Company except in so far as such tax applies to persons ordinarily resident in Bermuda and holding such Shares, debentures or other obligations of the Company or any land leased or let to the Company.

Should there be any changes in Bermudian tax law, in particular, if Bermuda imposes a dividend withholding tax regime, this could have an adverse cash impact on Shareholders.

(d) Small and mid-cap companies in the mining and resources industry

In terms of market capitalisation, the Company invests generally in listed and unlisted small and mid-cap companies in the mining and resources industry. Some small and mid-cap companies in this industry may have limited customers, product lines, markets or financial resources, may be heavily dependent on key personnel and can be more susceptible to losses and risks of insolvency. Listed and unlisted small and mid-cap companies in the mining and resources industry may be recently established entities with limited public information or operating history and may be engaged in new-to-market concepts which may be speculative in nature. Shares in small and mid-cap companies may be susceptible to wider price fluctuations, may trade less frequently and in smaller volumes and therefore may be affected by liquidity risk to a greater degree than shares in larger companies. Any of these factors may in turn materially adversely impact the performance of the Company and the trading price of its Securities.

(e) Investment strategy risk

The success and profitability of the Company significantly depends on the Company's ability to successfully and profitably manage the Company's investment portfolio and invest in securities that have the ability to generate a return for the Company. There is a risk that the Company may fail to make investments that generate a return and may make investments that lose money.

(f) Liquidity risk for shares in portfolio companies

Positions in small and mid-cap securities such as those held by the Company, may be difficult to sell and convert into cash, as the market for these types of investments may be smaller and less liquid, particularly if the investment is unlisted. The risks associated with a lack of liquidity of shares in the portfolio companies are further increased due to the Company's concentrated investment style having 29 companies in its investment portfolio. Although the Company constructs its investment strategy having regard to liquidity constraints, there is a risk that one or more of the holdings in the investment portfolio (from time to time) may become illiquid. This can result in a loss if the Company needs to sell such investments within a particular time frame.

(g) Liquidity risk for Securities in the Company

Once the Bonus Options are quoted on the ASX and the Shares issued on exercise of the Bonus Options are quoted on the ASX, there is no guarantee that an active trading market for the Bonus Options or Shares will arise or that the Shares will trade above the Exercise Price paid for the Shares on exercise of the Bonus Options. There may be relatively few prospective buyers or sellers of the Bonus Options or the Shares on the ASX at any given time.

(h) Regulatory risk

The Company is exposed to the risk of changes to applicable laws and regulations or their interpretation, which could have a negative effect on the Company, its investments or returns to Shareholders and the Company is also exposed to risks of non-compliance with reporting or other legal obligations.

(i) Reputational risk

There is a risk of impairment of the Company's reputation arising from factors which could include poor performance, failure to meet regulatory obligations, involvement in public controversy in companies in which it invests or other high-profile issues, shareholder dissatisfaction, inappropriate director remuneration or contagion from reputational concerns of other listed investment companies.

4.2 Risks specific to the Company's industry

The current and future operations of the Company may be affected by a range of factors, including:

(a) Risks related to the holding of interests in other companies

The Company's business involves holding interests in companies in the mining and resources sectors. As a result, the Company is exposed to the risks which affect each of those companies. Given that the companies are involved in the mining and resources industry, many of those risks will include those discussed in this Section 4.1(e). In addition, the Company will become subject to the country risk of each of the countries in which the companies it holds an interest in operate. These countries include Australia, Guinea, Canada, Mali, Sri Lanka, Namibia and Senegal. Political changes, conflict and changes in government policies may impact the profitability and viability of the operations of those companies. Any such impact may have a knock on effect in relation to the Company.

(b) Ability to raise additional capital

The extent to which the Company will require additional capital (debt or equity) will depend upon, among other things, the degree to which it generates positive cash flows from its operations. There is a risk that any positive cash flows generated will not be sufficient to implement medium to long-term strategic objectives of the Company, in which case the Company may need to consider raising additional capital. Such capital, if it is available, could be raised by way of the issue of additional equity or debt or other appropriate means determined by the Company. However, the Company's ability to raise capital (whether equity or debt) within an acceptable time, of a sufficient amount and on terms acceptable to the Company will vary according to a number of factors, including the Company's prior performance, success of exploration and development programs, any feasibility studies, capital market and industry conditions and the price of relevant commodities and exchange rates. There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in obtaining required financing as and when needed. Volatile markets for gold, copper and other minerals may make it difficult or impossible for the Company to obtain equity or debt financing on favourable terms or at all. Failure to obtain additional financing on a timely basis may cause the Company to postpone any development plans, forfeit rights in some or all of its properties or reduce or terminate some or all of its operations, and impact on its ability to implement its planned strategy.

(c) Investment in publicly quoted securities

The Company's investment in various listed companies in the mining and resources sectors may be difficult to realise. The value of the Company's investments may go down as well as up and the market price of the Company's investments may not reflect the underlying value of those investments. The Company may therefore realise less than, or lose all of, its investment.

(d) Volatility

The share price of emerging companies quoted on stock exchanges can be highly volatile and shareholdings illiquid. The price at which the securities of the companies in which the Company invests are quoted and the price at which the Company may realise its investments in those companies may be influenced by a significant number of factors, some specific to those companies and their operations and some which affect quoted companies generally. These factors could include the performance of those companies, large purchases or sales of the securities of those companies, legislative changes and general, economic, political or regulatory conditions.

(e) Nature of mineral exploration and mining

Mineral exploration and development is a speculative business, characterised by a number of significant uncertainties. For example, unprofitable efforts may result not only from the failure to discover mineral deposits but also from finding mineral deposits that are insufficient in quantity and/or quality to return a profit from production. Even deposits that could be sufficient to provide a profit from production are not guaranteed to do so because management of the mining operation may fail to perform adequately. The marketability of minerals acquired or discovered by the Company may be affected by numerous factors which are beyond the Company's control and which cannot be accurately predicted, such as market fluctuations, the proximity and capacity of mining facilities, mineral markets and processing equipment, and other factors such as government regulations, including regulations relating to royalties, allowable production, importing and exporting of minerals and metals, and environmental protection, a combination of which may result in the Company not receiving an adequate return on invested capital. While the discovery of a mineral structure may result in substantial rewards, few properties that are explored are ultimately developed into economically viable operating mines. Major expenditures may be required to establish reserves by drilling, constructing, mining and processing facilities at a site, and it is possible that even preliminary due diligence will show adverse results, leading to the abandonment of projects. It is impossible to ensure that preliminary feasibility studies or full feasibility studies on the Company's projects or the current or proposed exploration programmes on any of the properties in respect of which the Company has, or will have, exploration rights will result in a profitable commercial mining operation.

The Company's operations will be subject to all of the hazards and risks normally incidental to the exploration, development and production of precious metals and base metals, any of which activities could result in damage to life or property, environmental damage and possible legal liability for any or all such damage caused. The Company's activities may be subject to prolonged disruptions due to adverse weather conditions. Hazards, such as unusual or unexpected formations, rock bursts, pressures, cave-ins, flooding or other conditions may be encountered in the drilling and removal of material. Development and operation of mines and production and processing facilities may also be affected by mechanical difficulties, operational errors, labour disputes, damage to or shortage of equipment, earthquakes, fires or other natural disasters, civil unrest, leaks or pollution. These events are largely beyond the control of the Company. Whether a precious metal or a base metal deposit will be commercially viable depends on a number of factors, some of which are particular attributes of the deposit (such as its size and grade), proximity to infrastructure, financing costs and governmental regulations (including regulations relating to prices, taxes, royalties, infrastructure, land use, importing and exporting of precious metals or base metals and environmental protection). The effect of these factors cannot be accurately predicted, but the combination of these factors may result in the Company not receiving an adequate return on invested capital.

(f) Competition

The mining industry is intensely competitive in all of its phases and the Company competes with many companies possessing greater financial and technical resources than the Company. Competition in the mining and resources industry is primarily for mineral rich properties that can be developed and produced economically; the technical expertise to find, develop, and operate such properties; the labour to operate the properties; and the capital for the purpose of funding such properties. Many competitors not only explore for minerals, but conduct refining and marketing operations on a global basis. Such competition may result in the Company being unable to acquire desired properties, to recruit or retain qualified employees or to acquire the capital necessary to fund its operations and develop its properties. Existing or future competition in the mining and resources industry could materially and adversely affect the Company's prospects for mineral exploration and success in the future.

(g) Risks of future potential acquisitions

In the future, as part of its growth strategy, the Company may acquire other companies or businesses, including mineral interests. Acquisitions by the Company may require the use of significant amounts of cash, dilutive issues of equity securities and the incurrence of debt, each of which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, results of operations, financial condition or the market price of Shares. Acquisitions involve numerous risks, including difficulties with the assimilation of the operations of any acquired business or group and the diversion of management's attention from other business concerns. If such acquisitions do occur, there can be no assurance that the Company's business, results of operations or financial condition would not be materially and adversely affected thereby. The implementation of future acquisitions which the Company may wish to make could be affected by regulatory and other restraints and factors.

(h) Dependence on key personnel

In common with other services and businesses in this industry sector, the Company's business is dependent on retaining the services of a small number of key personnel of the appropriate calibre as the business develops. The success of the Company is, and will continue to be to a significant extent, dependent on the expertise and experience of the key personnel and the loss of one or more of such key personnel could have a material adverse effect on the Company. The Company will compete with numerous other mineral companies (many of which have greater resources) and individuals for the recruitment and retention of qualified employees and contractors.

(i) Dilution of Shareholders' interests

The Company may raise additional funds in the future to finance investments and acquisitions. If additional funds are raised through the issuance of new equity or equity-linked securities of the Company, other than on a pro rata basis to existing Shareholders, the percentage ownership of the Shareholders may be reduced, Shareholders may experience subsequent dilution and/or such securities may have preferred rights, options and pre-emption rights senior to Shares.

(j) Exchange rate risk

The Company reports its financial results and maintain its accounts in US dollars. The Company has interests in companies which are quoted on stock exchanges in Australia, Canada, and the United Kingdom and will, therefore, be exposed to fluctuations in the value of the currencies in which those stocks are traded. There can be no assurance that the Company will not be materially and adversely affected by such fluctuations.

(k) Environmental risk

The exploration for minerals, development of mines and production of metals can be hazardous to the environment and environmental damage may occur that is costly to remedy. If the Company or any of its subsidiaries is responsible for any environmental damage, the Company may incur substantial remediation costs or liabilities to third parties. The Company may be involved in operations that may be subject to environmental and safety regulation (including regular environmental impact assessments and permitting). This may include a wide variety of matters, such as prevention of waste, pollution and protection of the environment, labour regulations and worker safety. The regulations may change in a manner that may require stricter or additional standards than those currently in effect, a heightened degree of responsibility for companies and their directors and employees and more stringent enforcement of existing laws and regulations. There may also be unforeseen environmental liabilities resulting from exploration and development activities, which may be costly to remedy. In particular, the acceptable level of pollution and the potential clean-up costs and obligations and liability for toxic or hazardous substances for which the Company may become liable, as a result of its activities, may be impossible to assess against the current legal framework and current enforcement practices. There is no assurance that future changes in environmental regulation will not adversely affect the activities of the Company.

(l) Counterparty risk

There is a risk, which is higher in the current uncertain economic environment, that contracts and other arrangements to which the Company is a party and obtains a benefit (such as service and supply agreements) will not be performed by the relevant counterparties, including if those counterparties become insolvent or are otherwise unable to perform their obligations.

4.3 General risks to the Company

(a) Economic risks

Changes in the general economic climate in which the Company operates may adversely affect the financial performance of the Company. Factors that may contribute to that general economic climate include the level of direct and indirect competition against the Company, include, but are not limited to:

- (i) general economic conditions;
- (ii) changes in government policies, taxation and other laws;
- (iii) the strength of the equity and share markets in Australia and throughout the world;
- (iv) movement in, or outlook on, exchange rates, interest rates and inflation rates;
- (v) industrial disputes in Australia and overseas;
- (vi) changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors;
- (vii) financial failure or default by an entity with which the Company may become involved in a contractual relationship; and
- (viii) natural disasters, social upheaval or war.

(b) Litigation risks

The participation by the Company in the mining and resources industry may expose the Company to possible litigation risks, including native title claims, tenure disputes, environmental claims, occupational health and safety claims and employee claims. The Company may also be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation.

There is a risk that claims could be made against the Company in respect of its previous investments and assets even if the Company is no longer involved in those investments or no longer holds the relevant assets.

Any such claim or dispute if proven, may impact adversely on the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position.

The Company is not presently involved in litigation and the Directors are not aware of any basis on which any litigation against the Company may arise.

(c) Market conditions

Share market conditions may affect the value of the Company's Shares regardless of the Company's performance. Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as:

- (i) general economic outlook;
- (ii) introduction of tax reform or other new legislation;
- (iii) interest rates and inflation rates;
- (iv) changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors;
- (v) the demand for, and supply of, capital; and
- (vi) terrorism or other hostilities.

The market price of securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return to Shareholders arising from the Bonus Issue.

(d) Unforeseen expenses

While the Company is not aware of any expenses that may need to be incurred that have not been taken into account, if such expenses were subsequently incurred, the expenditure proposals of the Company may be adversely affected.

(e) Macro-economic risks

Changes in the general economic outlook in Australia and globally may impact the performance of the Company and its projects. Such changes may include:

- (i) uncertainty in the Australian economy or increases in the rate of inflation resulting from domestic or international conditions (including movements in domestic interest rates and reduced economic activity);
- (ii) increases in expenses (including the cost of goods and services used by the Company);
- (iii) new or increased government taxes, duties or changes in taxation laws; and
- (iv) fluctuations in equity markets in Australia and internationally.

A prolonged and significant downturn in general economic conditions may have a material adverse impact on the Company's trading and financial performance.

(f) Broader general risks

There are also a number of broader general risks which may impact the Company's performance. These include:

- (i) abnormal stoppages in normal business operations due to factors such as war, political or civil unrest, infrastructure failure or industrial disruption; and

- (ii) higher than budgeted costs associated with the provision of service offerings.

4.4 Speculative Investment

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Bonus Options offered under this Prospectus. Therefore, the Bonus Options to be issued pursuant to this Prospectus carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those Bonus Options. Potential investors should consider that the investment in the Company is speculative and should consult their professional adviser with respect to the Bonus Issue pursuant to this Prospectus.

5. Additional information

5.1 Continuous Disclosure Obligations

The Company is a 'disclosing entity' (as defined in section 111AC of the Corporations Act) for the purposes of section 713 of the Corporations Act, and, as such, is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Specifically, like all listed companies, the Company is required to continuously disclose any information it has to the market which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or the value of the Company's Securities. The Bonus Options will only be admitted to Official Quotation by ASX if the conditions for quotation of a new class of securities are satisfied.

This Prospectus is a 'transaction specific prospectus' to which the special content rules under section 713 of the Corporations Act apply. That provision allows the issue of a more concise prospectus in relation to an offer of securities, or operation to acquire securities, in a class which has been continuously quoted by ASX in the three months prior to the date of the prospectus. In general terms 'transaction specific prospectuses' are only required to contain information in relation to the effect of the issue of Bonus Options on the Company and the rights attaching to the Bonus Options. It is not necessary to include general information in relation to all of the assets and liabilities, the financial position, profits and losses or prospects of the issuing company.

This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange. Investors should therefore have regard to the other publicly available information in relation to an investment in the Company.

Having taken such precautions and having made such enquires as are reasonable, the Company believes that it has complied with the general and specific requirements of ASX as applicable from time to time throughout the three months before the issue of this Prospectus which required the Company to notify ASX of information about specified events or matters as they arise for the purpose of ASX making that information available to the stock market conducted by ASX.

Information that is already in the public domain has not been reported in this Prospectus other than that which is considered necessary to make this Prospectus complete.

The Company, as a disclosing entity under the Corporations Act states that:

- (a) it is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations;
- (b) copies of documents lodged with the ASIC in relation to the Company (not being documents referred to in section 1274(2)(a) of the Corporations Act) may be obtained from, or inspected at, the offices of the ASIC; and
- (c) it will provide a copy of each of the following documents, free of charge, to any person on request between the date of issue of this Prospectus and the Record Date of the Bonus Issue:

- (ii) the half year financial report of the Company for the six months ended 31 December 2019 lodged with ASIC after the lodgement of the annual financial report mentioned in paragraph (i) and before the issue of this Prospectus; and
- (iii) any documents used to notify ASX of information relating to the Company in the period from lodgement of the annual financial report referred to in paragraph (i) above until the issue of this Prospectus in accordance with the Listing Rules as referred to in section 674(1) of the Corporations Act.

Copies of all documents lodged with the ASIC in relation to the Company can be inspected at the Australian registered office of the Company during normal office hours.

- (v) if admitted to the official list of ASX at the time, apply for official quotation on ASX of Shares issued pursuant to the exercise of the Bonus Options.

If, for any reason, a notice delivered under paragraph (iv) is not effective to ensure that an offer for sale of the Shares does not require disclosure to investors, the Company must, no later than 20 Business Days after becoming aware of such notice being ineffective, lodge with ASIC a prospectus prepared in accordance with the Corporations Act and do all such things necessary to satisfy section 708A(11) of the Corporations Act to ensure that an offer for sale of the Shares does not require disclosure to investors.

(h) Participation in new issues

There are no participation rights or entitlements inherent in the Bonus Options and Holders will not be entitled to participate in new issues of capital offered to Shareholders during the currency of the Bonus Options.

(i) Adjustment for bonus issues of Shares

If the Company makes a bonus issue of Shares or other securities to existing Shareholders (other than an issue in lieu or in satisfaction, of dividends or by way of dividend reinvestment):

- (ii) no change will be made to the Exercise Price.

(j) Adjustment for rights issue

If the Company makes an issue of Shares pro rata to existing Shareholders (other than as a bonus issue to which paragraph (i) will apply) there will be no adjustment of the Exercise Price of a Bonus Option or the number of Shares over which the Bonus Options are exercisable.

(k) Adjustments for reorganisation

If there is any reconstruction of the issued share capital of the Company, the rights of the Holder may be varied to comply with the Listing Rules that apply to the reconstruction at the time of the reconstruction.

Cheques shall be in Australian currency made payable to the Company and crossed 'Not Negotiable' for the application for Shares on the exercise of the Bonus Options.

5.8 Rights attaching to Shares

A summary of the rights attaching to Shares in the Company is set out below and are affected by the Bermuda Companies Act, the common law of Bermuda and the ASX Listing Rules.

The Shares issued upon the exercise of the Bonus Options will rank pari passu in all respects with existing Shares. This summary is qualified by the full terms of the Company's Bye-Laws and does not purport to be exhaustive or to constitute a definitive statement of the rights and liabilities of Shareholders. These rights and liabilities can involve complex questions of law arising from an interaction of the Company's Bye-Laws with statutory and common law requirements. For a Shareholder to obtain a definitive assessment of the rights and liabilities which attach to Shares in any specific circumstances, the Shareholder should seek legal advice.

Full details of the rights and liabilities attaching to Shares are set out in the Company's Bye Laws, a copy of which is available for inspection at the Company's registered office during normal business hours and the Company's website at <https://www.zetaresources.limited/investor-relations/corporate-governance/>.

(a) General meetings

The president or chairman (if any), or any two Directors, or any Director and the company secretary, or the Board, may convene a special general meeting whenever in their judgment such a meeting is necessary. The Board shall, on the requisition of Shareholders holding at the date of the deposit of the requisition no less than one-tenth of such of the paid up share capital of the Company carrying the right to vote, proceed to convene a special general meeting and the provisions of the Bermuda Companies Act shall apply.

(b) Voting

Subject to any rights or restrictions attaching to any class of shares in the Company, at any general meeting of the Company, each Shareholder entitled to vote may vote in person or by proxy, or, if it is a company, by representative each of whom shall be entitled to speak and to one vote on a show of hands and each Shareholder present in person or by proxy, or, if it is a company, by representative shall be entitled on a poll to one vote for each Share held. No Shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting, unless all calls presently payable by him in respect of Shares have been paid. On a poll a Shareholder or proxy or representative, if entitled to more than one vote, need not use all his votes or cast all the votes he uses in the same way.

(c) Profits and dividends

The Directors may in their sole discretion (subject to any preferred dividend rights attached to any class of shares and to the Bermuda Companies Act) declare and pay a dividend or make a distribution out of contributed surplus to the shareholders of the Company according to their rights and interests, including interim dividends, which may be declared and paid in proportion to the amount paid up on each share. Payment or satisfaction of any dividend or distribution out of contributed surplus may be made in cash or by the issue of fully paid Shares or by the distribution of specific assets. Contributed surplus is a North American concept recognised under Bermuda law and the generally accepted accounting principles of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, which are applied in Bermuda. Contributed surplus includes proceeds from donated shares, credits resulting from the redemption or conversion of shares at less than the amount of the nominal capital or par value, the excess value of shares acquired over the nominal value of those shares issued in a share exchange (should the board of directors of the Company elect to treat it as such) and donations of cash or other assets to the company. The Company does not have any current intention to declare and pay a dividend or make a distribution out of contributed surplus.

(d) Winding up

Subject to the terms of issue of Shares, if the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of a resolution of Shareholders and any other sanction required by the Bermuda Companies Act, divide amongst the shareholders of the Company in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may for such purposes set such values as the liquidator deems fair upon any property to be so divided and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Shareholders or different classes of shareholders. The liquidator may, with such a sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trust for the benefit of the shareholders of the Company as the liquidator shall think fit, but so that no shareholder of the Company shall be compelled to accept any shares or other assets upon which there is any liability.

(e) Issue of further Shares

The Directors may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Bye-Laws and the Bermuda Companies Act, to issue further shares of the Company with or without preferential rights on such terms and conditions as they see fit.

(f) Appointment and removal of Directors

Shareholders in general meeting may by ordinary resolution appoint any person as a new Director, or as a Director to fill up all or any vacated offices resulting from one or more Directors retiring at, or ceasing to hold office at the conclusion of, that meeting. The Board or Shareholders in general meeting shall have the power to appoint any person as a Director to fill a vacancy on the Board occurring as a result of the death, disability, disqualification or resignation of any Director or as a result of an increase in the size of the Board. Directors who are subject to retirement by rotation shall retire from office at annual general meetings of Shareholders no later than the longer of:

- (i) the third annual general meeting; or
- (ii) 3 years, after that Director's last election or appointment and shall be eligible for re-election thereafter.

(g) Variation of rights

If, at any time, the share capital of the Company is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class may, unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class, be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than 75% of the issued shares of that class or with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a separate general meeting of the holders of such shares at which the quorum is at least two persons holding or representing by proxy, one-third of the issued shares of that class.

(h) Share buy-backs

The Company may buy-back Shares in itself in accordance with the provisions of the Bermuda Companies Act.

(i) Dividend policy

The Company does not intend to declare or pay any dividends in the immediately foreseeable future.

Any future determination as to the payment of dividends by the Company will be at the sole discretion of the Directors and will depend on the availability of distributable earnings and operating results and financial condition of the Company, future capital requirements and general business and other factors considered relevant by the Directors. No assurance in relation to the payment of dividends or franking credits attaching to dividends can be given by the Company.
